

News Observes 40th Anniversary Issue

Has Served Community Continuously in Crucial Period of U. S. History

As we go to press on the 2080th edition of the Sierra Madre News it is probable that this newspaper is the oldest institution in the city, having given continuous service over a period of 40 years. Its pages hold the history of the city, its development, its problems and achievements. It is a record of families from birth to death; the happy occasions of childhood are written in its columns, the marriages which have united famous families or brought new in-laws to the family home. Each page has been a mirror of the activities of the school, church, fraternal orders and growth of a little village to a charming foothill city.

The News has grown apace with the City. Today, an experienced staff devotes its efforts to bring to our readers, a complete coverage of local news events. Editorially, we attempt to sponsor those worthwhile causes that will result in civic betterment.

The circulation has been increasing steadily attesting to the growth of the city and the interest of Sierra Madreans in their paper, and that the newcomers in our midst find the News a means of getting acquainted with the Wistaria City.

New equipment is being added to the News plant in order that we may bring the latest printing developments to our customers. The present staff includes: Terry L. Clark, news editor; Peter Ward, advertising; Elsie Ann Ward, advertising; Laura Cadmus, social news; Annetta Wilcox, bookkeeping; Frederick Schwepp, superintendent of production; Edward A. Burnett, compositor and Loran E. Perry, linotypist.

That the pages of this newspaper may more and more serve the community is the sincere wish of the publishers and staff on its 40th Anniversary.

Housebreaker Victimizes Local Family

Mr. and Mrs. James W. McLeod of 265 Rancho Road were the victims Tuesday of a day-night burglar who ransacked their home during the occupants' absence, stealing cash, checks and jewelry valued at approximately $185.

Mrs. McLeod left home about 10:30 Tuesday morning and on returning a few minutes after 2 p. m., discovered the front door open, and contents of bureau drawers strewn over beds.

Items missing included a Federal treasury check for $100, a man's ring, two wrist watches and about $50 in cash. Entry had been made by cutting a hole in a bedroom screen and lifting the book.

A short while before the burglary was discovered, a man described as about 45 years of age, of medium build, with a long slender face, and five feet nine inches tall rang the door bell at the home of Harry Hamilton, next door neighbor of the McLeods. When Mrs. Hamilton answered the door, the man asked if she knew when the McLeods would be home. When she replied that she did not, he answered: "Then I guess there is nothing to do but wait until they return."

Miss Frances Robertson, daughter of City Clerk and Mrs. E. D. Robertson of East Sierra Madre Blvd., has accepted a secretarial position with the U. S. Military Attaché in Asuncion, Paraguay, and will leave tomorrow for Washington, D. C. enroute to the Paraguayan capital.

Miss Robertson's assignment to the South American country is for one year, following which she will return home on leave prior to reassignment by the War Department.

Graduating last spring from the University of California at Berkeley with an A. B. degree, Miss Robertson majored in Latin, American Relations and Spanish. She sang in the University chorus and was actively interested in folk dancing groups.

She was born in Sierra Madre and attended the Sierra Madre Elementary school, Woodrow Wilson Junior High School and Pasadena Junior College. At P. J. C. she was winner of the (Continued on last page)

Varied Loads Carried by Pack Trains

Busy Trail Days Saw Odd Cargoes

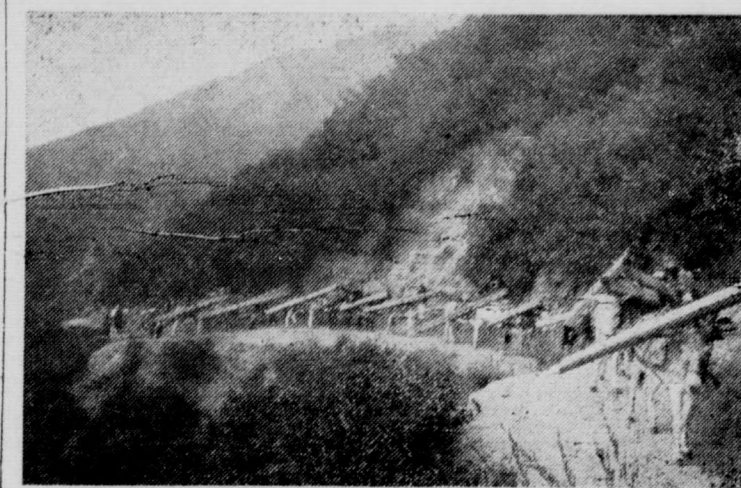

New comers to Sierra Madre may not realize that this city was once one of the largest pack train terminals in Southern California.

Cargoes almost as diverse as those carried by ocean-going freighters were hauled up the mountain trails from Sierra Madre in the earlier years when pack train transportation was big business.

Live fish were hauled up the trails by burro and mule back to stock mountain streams. Lumber and other building materials, plumbing equipment and musical instruments, food and baggage, every need of the hotels, inns and cabins along the trail was supplied by pack train out of Sierra Madre in the days before auto roads were opened into the mountains.

Such personal items as a quart of milk, a spool of thread and the morning paper were delivered to all points on the trail by City

Committee Begins Float Construction Flowers Assured

"Hallowe'en" was selected as the theme for Sierra Madre's float entry in the Tournament of Roses Parade, New Year's Day in Pasadena, at a meeting of the Float Committee, Friday afternoon at the Arts Guild Studio.

Through the cooperation of John C. Hansen, Rancho Road horticulturist, a brilliant color scheme has been worked out for the float which is being designed by Alfred James Dewey.

Construction of the float will again be under the supervision of Harold J. Spears. Mrs. Sally Dewey will be in charge of decoration, and Herbert Kelley, well-known wood-carver, will make the figures used in the float. City Clerk Eddie D. Robertson will continue as Float Committee chairman.

Committees from the various clubs and organizations in the city will be asked to participate in the many tasks necessary to complete the float, the chairman announced.

Sierra Madre's float will conform with the spirit of the 1947 Tournament of Roses theme, "Holidays in Flowers". Not only holidays of the United States, but also those of foreign countries will be portrayed in the parade.

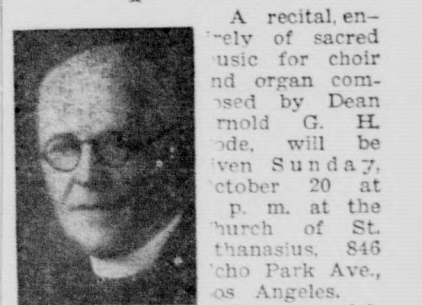

City Council Investigates Flood Control

Costs of bringing flood water from Big Santa Anita Canyon to the Sierra Madre spreading grounds will be investigated jointly by Sierra Madre and Arcadia as a result of a resolution passed by the city council at a regular meeting Tuesday evening.

On completion of the investigation, the resulting facts will be presented to officials of both cities and to county flood control officials to determine if it would be practical to move the water to the spreading grounds.

Kiwanis Hear First Hand of China Lore

"Changing and Changeless China" was the theme of an address at the Kiwanis Club's Tuesday luncheon by Mrs. Ernest Clay of San Gabriel, who with her husband, Dr. Ernest Clay, Methodist medical missionary, spent many years in China and was imprisoned in a Japanese concentration camp for a time during World War II.

Commenting on the American tendency to see only the worst aspects of other nations, the speaker stated that the political situation and the domestic conflict between opposing factions is constantly changing in China, while certain commendable characteristics of the Chinese people never change.

BY WAY OF INTRODUCTION

With this issue the SIERRA MADRE NEWS makes its initial appearance. The editor does not believe that any apology needs to be offered for its coming. The need for a local newspaper is felt in every town and up to the present this need has not been supplied in Sierra Madre. Such a paper plays a very large part in the upbuilding of a place and is a means of bringing the population together as a unit in public spirit and pride.

The SIERRA MADRE NEWS is here to stay. We intend to make it such a paper that every resident of Sierra Madre will feel that it cannot be done without. This issue is in a way a sample edition. We have made no effort to secure subscriptions for the paper as yet, preferring to show our fellow-townsmen what kind of a paper they are going to have before asking anything of them. But now it is before you for your inspection. It is our aim to make each succeeding issue better. All the news of happenings in Sierra Madre or vicinity will be faithfully recorded, the goings and comings of your neighbors, news of the Trail and all the sundry little bits of intelligence that you like to read, and know. And while we shall seek to publish all the news obtainable we will draw the line at that which savors of mere gossip, so that you will be able to say "it is so because I read it in the News."

We invite you to send us any items that you feel are of general interest, and our columns will be open for the expression of your opinion on matters of public concern.

No attempt will be made to publish news from outside places, except in cases when Sierra Madre may be concerned. In the editorial space matters of local and general interest will be discussed, from the editor's standpoint, of course. We do not expect that you will always agree with our sentiments, for we all know that one of the impossible things in this world is to please everybody. So the editor will say what he thinks and if perchance he don't say exactly what you would like just come down to the office and we'll have a friendly discussion of the matter.

Maybe you will be able to convert him to your way of thinking but if not you must concede to him the right to hold his own opinions.

In addition we expect to publish from time to time, such reading matter as will be interesting for you in the evening hour, and items especially for the help of the busy housewife.

The NEWS will work for SIERRA MADRE. It is published in SIERRA MADRE, by those who believe SIERRA MADRE to be the prettiest and best spot in Southern California. We are going to say SIERRA MADRE and keep saying SIERRA MADRE and keep booming SIERRA MADRE first, last, and all the time.

The price of the paper is $1.50 a year, the usual price for a local weekly. We offer no premiums or other inducements to get your subscription, but we do agree to give the worth of your money. Thursday is the day of issue. If you like the paper, and the policy outlined above, come around and tell us, and we will use the time which otherwise we must use to look you up, in improving the paper.

We have installed a strictly up-to-date Job and Newspaper plant where we have every facility for turning out the finest kind of work. Every piece of our equipment is new and of the best. We extend a most cordial invitation to you to come and get acquainted with us. If you do not already know where we are located, just come down on Esperanza Ave. next door to the residence of Mr. S. R. G. Twycross and you will see the place.

SOME WORDS FROM OTHERS

I am asked to say something in favor of the establishment of a weekly newspaper in Sierra Madre. I am told that the intending publisher proposes to bring out the first copy of the SIERRA MADRE NEWS, before seeking for a subscription, or canvassing for an advertisement. I understand that he seeks no subsidy, but simply asks for "a fair field and no favor" for what he looks upon as a good business investment that will pay its own way. Under such conditions I certainly think the enterprise should be encouraged.

During the last nine months the population of Sierra Madre has largely increased and is still increasing. A non-partisan local paper which besides attending to the necessary chroniclings of the happenings of the place, will also be the constant and persistent advocate of good government, civic improvements, and all that pertains thereto, can be of great service to a growing community.

J. G. Blumer

I think Sierra Madre should have a paper, all her own, a weekly visitor to send to our friends all over the world. It is a great help to have a few lines in a Los Angeles Daily once or twice a week; how much more to have a paper full of Sierra Madre, telling of its lovely location, its wonderful growth, its pure mountain water, its electric car service, electric lights, expensive homes, cultured inhabitants, and above all, its great future.

S. R. G. Twycross.

I am very glad to hear that we are to have a paper of our own instead of having it printed in another town as were the other papers that have been started before. I am very sure that Mr. Cowles ought to be well supported by the people of Sierra Madre, and wish him every success in his new venture.

R. H. Mackerras

Welcome, thrice welcome! to the SIERRA MADRE NEWS. It is what many of us have been looking for, and it has certainly been born at the psychological moment. At a time when, judging from the absence of all reference to Sierra Madre in the Los Angeles Dailies, one might be led to believe that our beautiful foothill town had been blotted from the map, we have reason to rejoice in having a paper of our very own. That it will receive the hearty support of our citizens goes without saying. As a medium for the dissemination of local news and for promoting community interest and effort it will be simply invaluable. It ought also to be largely used as an advertising agency for the benefit of those who are without who do not happen to know the advantages and charms of Sierra Madre as a place of residence. The name of Mr. R. T. Cowles as editor and proprietor, is a sufficient guarantee that it will be conducted with wisdom and enterprise; and that it will be a clean and dignified sheet, worthy in all respects of the community which it seeks to represent. May the largest possible success attend it.

James M. Campbell.

Fall Colors Motif at the Lunsford-Butler Wedding

Autumn colors were selected by Miss June Butler to decorate the First Presbyterian Church in San Luis Obispo when she became the bride of E. Eugene Lunsford in an evening ceremony, October second. Fall leaves and bronze chrysanthemums surrounded the yellow tapers at the altar, and the pews were tied with yellow pom-pom dahlias and ivy.

Four hundred guests witnessed the rites, read by Rev. Frederick J. Hart, when Miss Butler, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Willis Dole Butler of San Luis Obispo, exchanged vows with Mr. Lunsford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was becomingly gowned in white silk jersey of flowing Grecian lines; her long veil held in place by a Juliet cap trimmed with tiny ostrich plumes, and she carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis.

The bride's attendants were all former school friends, Mrs. Arthur Heinsen of Santa Ana as Matron of Honor; and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Merfield of Denver, Colo.; Mrs. Reed Surber of San Jose; Miss Joanne McClure of Pasadena; and Mrs. H. C. Gibson of San Luis Obispo.

Dressed alike in soft gowns of pale and deeper shades of yellow jersey, and carrying arm bouquets of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums, they made a fascinating picture to complement the lovely golden-haired bride.

Best man was Harry Lange of this city, and seating the guests were: Noren Eaton, Eugene Dana, Gerald MacDonald.

Mrs. W. D. Butler, mother of the bride, chose for her daughter's wedding a smart dinner dress of black marquisette and lace elbow length gloves and feather hat. Her costume was completed with an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Emmett Bovee, organist, included in her obligato, "Calm as the Night," "Traumeri" and "Liebestraum" as well as the traditional wedding marches.

The newlyweds cut the beautiful wedding cake with an heirloom family knife, as the guests watched around the bride's table which also carried out the yellow and white color scheme.

The new Mrs. Lunsford is a graduate of Stanford University. She served with the Red Cross during the war, and has recently resigned her position as an executive secretary of the Pasadena Camp Fire Girls.

After a honeymoon in Mexico and Canada, the couple will make their home in Sierra Madre.

A surprise birthday dinner and bridge party given Sunday for John Ashmore in Pasadena by Mrs. Ashmore included among guests Mr. and Mrs. Warren Preston, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Leslie of this city.

The yearly program starts off with one of the loveliest garden films ever made. The Eastman Kodak Company is sending color sound film of the 18th Century gardens at Williamsburg, Va. Jacques Hahn, Sierra Madre's garden authority who will give a short talk on Fall Gardens says this film is the finest he has ever seen.

Mrs. Frank Cox will have charge of the reservations again this year.

The Southern California Fall Flower Show, annually the southland's largest until war forced its postponement in 1941, will return to the Fannie E. Morrison Horticultural Center in Pasadena's Brookside Park, October 31 to November 3.

Group entries must be in the association's hands by October 19 and those of individuals by October 28. It was simultaneously announced by G. Wyman Hope, show manager. Thousands of dollars in cash prizes will be awarded. This will be the first time the show has run four days, a move dictated by the spring show which set new attendance records.

Indicating the magnitude of the event, there are three classes of competition for private growers alone and an additional 80 for amateurs. Professional nurserymen, the garden clubs and flower arrangement contestants will swell the displays still further.

Mrs. Sarah Cooper Passed Away Sept. 3

Friends here will be sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. Sarah Cooper of Beverly Hills, a former resident who passed away September 3 at Huntington Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Cooper was a prominent member of the Episcopal church here and the organizer of the May day pancake breakfast 10 years ago, who prepared the batter and made the cakes herself for these events. The project is still carried on each year by the Women's auxiliary to raise funds for church activities.

Marriage Solemnized Sunday Afternoon

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the W. A. Evans home 397 W. Montecito, Sunday afternoon when Mrs. Sadie Baird and Mr. Evans were married. The immediate families were the only guests with Rev. Stewart R. Sheriff officiating. The witnesses were Joe Evans and Eugene Baird. Mrs. Evans is from Waukegan, Ill., and has lived at Bell, Calif., for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Evans are taking a trip and will be at home after November 1st.

Mrs. W. J. Miller will entertain the Priscillas at her home, West Highland, on Thursday, October 10, at 2:30 p. m. Miss Clara L. Sykes and Miss E. R. Green will be co-hostesses.

Ramona School Girls Entertained With Spanish Dinner

Carmen Barela entertained nine of her school friends who are attending the Ramona School at Alhambra Saturday evening with a Spanish dinner at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Barela of 130 Suffolk Ave.

The guests included Mary Jane Hawkins, Bernice Kibbort, Dolores Colligan, Jackie Kinney, Toni Haskell, Marie Rondeau, Lovell Munch, Rosemary Geiser and Grace Neicwender.

A Vigil of Flowers

A very beautiful gesture has come to our attention; during the four months illness of Elsie Bever of Lowell preceding his death the Sunday School class of which he was a member at Bethany Church kept his room filled with fresh flowers every day and nearly every mail brought cards wishing him better health.

Mr. Bever was a very devoted member of Bethany and never missed a service if he were in the city which has been his home for 22 years.

Garden Club to See Films of 18th Century Williamsburg Gardens at First Meeting

President F. D. R. Moore of the Sierra Madre Garden club announces the first meeting of the year will be held next Monday evening, October 14th with dinner at 6:30 at the Masonic Temple.

The yearly program starts off with one of the loveliest garden films ever made. The Eastman Kodak Company is sending color sound film of the 18th Century gardens at Williamsburg, Va. EVENING BUFFET FOR AFTER THE PRAY

With the school term once more in full swing, there comes the season for the all-American sport of football. Of course we all hope that our team will be the season's best and enthusiasm runs high, both at the games and at the parties which follow. Whether you are a spectator in the cheering section or one of the hard working line-men, interschool rivalries are going to be forgotten temporarily as the game comes home to an inviting buffet supper which is appropriate for the healthy appetites. Such dishes as meat loaf football and baked sweet potato and apple slices can be prepared in advance and popped into the oven thus giving the hostess plenty of time to enjoy her guests.

MEAT LOAF FOOTBALL
1 1/2 lb. ground beef
1/2 lb. sausage
1/2 C. corn meal
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. onion salt
1 tsp. celery salt
1 tsp. chili powder
1/2 C. finely chopped onion
1/2 C. raisins
1 C. cooked tomatoes, drained
3 eggs

Combine meat, corn meal, seasonings, onion, raisins, tomatoes and eggs in large bowl. Mix until thoroughly blended. Place mixture in greased pan; shape to resemble football. Make lengthwise indentations 1/2" deep along sides to represent seams. Bake uncovered for 1 1/2 hours at 350 degrees. Remove to serving tray and garnish with narrow strips of pimiento to represent lacing on football; garnish with parsley. Serves 8-10.

BAKED SWEET POTATO AND APPLE SLICES
3 large unpeeled yams
3 large red apples
1/2 C. melted margarine
1 tsp. salt
1/2 C. maple flavored syrup
Cook potatoes tender. Cool, peel and cut into 1/2" crosswise slices. Cut apples in half lengthwise and remove core. Cut into 1/2" slices. Saute apples in 2 Tbsp. margarine over low flame until nearly soft and golden. Arrange alternate slices of potato and apple in 2 rows in greased baking dish 7x11x2, so they stand on end. Dot with remaining margarine and salt; pour the syrup over the top and bake at 350 degrees until slightly brown and glazed. Serves 8-10.

Employers Urged to Give Work to the Handicapped Persons

R. J. Hoy, manager of the Monrovia United States Unemployment Service, today urged Sierra Madre employers to meet the challenge of National Employ The Physically Handicapped Week, October 6-12. The great majority of handicapped persons are employable, Hoy declared. All they need is a chance to prove what they can do.

Throughout the nation Employ The Physically Handicapped Week in 1945 resulted in placements of 34 per cent greater than the same period in September, he said. The demobilization of thousands of disabled veterans from the armed forces makes the need for suitable employment opportunities even greater this year. We must exceed 1945's record. This is a responsibility all of us must share.

The need for concerted action is most urgent. On each community rests the responsibility for seeing that qualified job seekers, both veterans and civilians have the opportunity to work regardless of their physical limitations. The employment service will welcome the opportunity to help any employer select physically handicapped, but vocationally capable employees.

PAUL CARTER of North Mountain Trail in experimental garden of papaya trees. The one by which he is standing measures 52 inches, a growth since spring.

Mountain Side Yields to the Growth of Tropical Fruits

Good luck, good soil and good climate have brought success to Paul Carter this season in pursuit of an inherited hobby, the growing of tropical fruits at his hillside home, 666 Mt. Wilson Trail Road.

A former City Councilman, he became interested in tropical fruits while serving as a lieutenant commander in the Navy in World War II and brought back seeds he had gathered in the Solomon Islands and also seeds obtained from the University of Hawaii. He began experimenting with these seeds upon his release from the Navy last October.

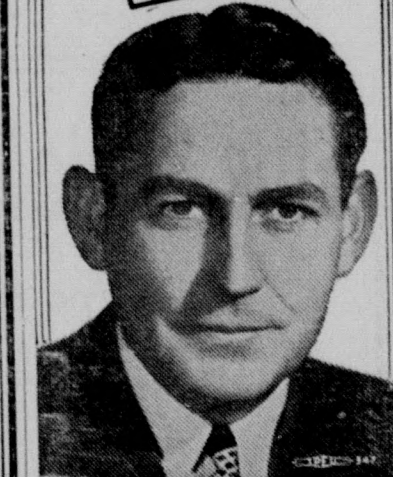

Today he has 40 papaya, chirimoya, feijoa and mango trees growing on his two and one-half acres. The papaya trees, from seeds planted last spring, already stand 52 inches high. Feijoa plants, not grown from seed, already are producing after having been planted last spring.

His grandfather, N. C. Carter, pioneered in producing bananas and a new strain of naval orange more than 60 years ago after he purchased 1100 acres of land here in 1880 and established his home on a ridge above Baldwin Ave.

The Frog TALKS about ROBERTS MARKET and Things

When after many battles past, Both tired with blows make peace at last, What is it, after all, the people get? Why! taxes, widows, wooden legs, and debt.

—Francis Moore

ALL TOO TRUE! BUT WHO WOULD have thought that 14 months after the shooting stopped you would be unable to buy so many of the much-needed things you cheerfully did without during almost four years of war? You were told and believed that to win the war it was necessary to forego all the luxuries and many of the necessities. But what is this system that seems determined to keep war-time restrictions in force now and for goodness knows how long to come? Must you sacrifice your moral integrity by being forced to pay "under the table" prices for the things you now really need? Would you have thought that with the greatest beef herds in the country's history you would be unable to buy a steak? Or that it should be necessary to even think of importing beef from Argentina because our cattle growers are unwilling to sell their product at a loss?

ARE YOU CHILDREN, THAT THE Government must tell you what part of your earnings you can spend for the things you want and need? Surely price ceilings are no good if they result in there being no shirts, no soil pipe and no meat! Or have we been regimented for so long that we have forgotten the economic principles which have made this the greatest and most prosperous country in the world: the law of supply and demand, the lure of free enterprise, and the ever-present brake of open competition? I DON'T THINK SO!

PERHAPS IT IS NOW SAFE TO QUOTE Elmer S. Wise, a vegetarian, who wrote: "Eating meat began from man's wanderings when he left some garden spot and turned cannibal. A 20th century human, living in a civilized community, who eats meat or hunts animals for sport, is emotionally and mentally moronic." Scant consolation this, my friends, because I know from what LES tells me—and in spite of Mr. Wise's opinion — almost all of you want meat and you are growing tired of poultry, fish and cheese. Of course, we still have a fair supply of lunch meats and delicatessen products, including BETTY'S cooked foods some of which contain a little meat—sometimes.

NOW IF ALL THIS RESULTS IN your becoming vegetarians, it won't hurt me any because I will sell more vegetables, eh? And need I say once again that in my corner you will always find the finest assortment of fresh fruits and vegetables that money can buy?

AS YOU KNOW, THERE IS ALSO a Grocery Department in this big, little store where shortages are less serious than in many of the bigger and more spectacular markets. And if you have decided that the green stuff is not enough for you, well there are lots of meat products in tin and glass in CURLY'S section.

APROPOS OF NEITHER FOOD NOR POLITICS, but because there are so many new housekeepers coming to me each day for their rutabagas, lettuce, broccoli and such, perhaps the following prescription will be of lasting interest to some of you:

To keep your wedding ring clean and bright, rinse three times a day in generous amounts of dishwater.

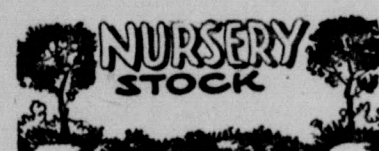

—Philip Jerome Cleveland

AFTERTHOUGHT: If my diatribes arouse your righteous ire, then call me names to your heart's desire, 'cause in the end the result'll be good if, thinking of me, you'll thing of food!

NEW FIVE CENT
AIR MAIL RATE
PROVES POPULAR

Business firms are planning special programs to stimulate volume during National Air Mail Week October 27 to November
2. Postmaster Tom Durning declared today.

Inauguration of the new five-cent United States air mail rate October 1 immediately brought a sharp rise in air mail volume.
Postmaster Tom Durning said.
Rapid air mail service, offered for the first time at a low postage rate, should stimulate commerce, business leaders here believe. For that reason, they are encouraging large air-mailing during the nation-wide air mail promotion week.

"We have long advocated lower air mail rates," said A. E. Morgan, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, "believing that rapid service between customers and manufacturers and distributors would foster commerce."

The Post Office Department has taken a leaf from the book of American business, reducing the air-mail rate from 8 cents to 5 cents an ounce and simultaneously offering better and faster service. The Post Office has borrowed the proven principle that by getting more customers for a good product at a reduced cost the unit cost of delivery is cut. A lower price requires one thing to succeed—larger volume.

Business men want to have the five-cent rate continued. A policy of enlightened self-interest suggests that all of us promote air mail during this period when the new low rate is being tested.

Meanwhile, Postmaster Tom Durning reported, air mail letters are being received at the post office with incorrect postage affixed. The five-cent rate applies anywhere that the American flag flies, including all United States possessions. It is also applicable to the armed forces abroad, and to Canada and Mexico.

SUGGESTS

THANKS to refrigerated cars and frozen foods, we can have fresh vegetables the year round. Anyone will agree, though, that those picked in the back yard and served the same day have a much better flavor than the imported variety.
So eat all the vegetables you can while they're home grown and enjoy them at their best.

Vegetables prepared in the same manner day after day are liable to become monotonous, however. To lend variety, Nancy Holmes of the Best Foods kitchens suggests serving this delicious vegetable soup. It's almost a meal in itself.

Vegetable Potpourri
4 medium onions
3 tablespoons vitaminized margarine
6 small tomatoes
1 pound green string beans
1 cup celery
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup fresh corn OR
1 can kernel corn
2 tomatoes, sectioned
1 chicken bouillon cube OR 1 package soup powder
1/4 cup boiling water

Slice onions in 1/4 inch thick slices. Saute in vitaminized margarine until soft. Peel tomatoes, cut in pieces and add to onions.
Add string beans cut diagonally in 2-inch pieces and cook 15 minutes.
Cut outside pieces of celery into crescents. If fresh corn is used cut kernels from ears. Add with salt and celery to cooked vegetables.
Cover and cook over moderate flame until all are tender, about 20 minutes. Add canned corn if used, place the 2 tomatoes cut in sections on top and add soup cube or powder dissolved in hot water.
Cover and cook 4-5 minutes. Serve hot. Yield: 6 servings.

Nat'l Letter Week Set For
Oct. 13 - 19

In observance of National Letter-Writing Week, October 13 to 19, Postmaster Thomas R. Durning this week released the following statement under the title,
"Someone feels better, when you send a letter":

"Yes, someone is waiting for your letter. A few welcome words, an acknowledgment of some request, a chatty report on the inconsequential but delightful things you like to talk about, that note of praise or a bit of information—all of these are yours, to give at little effort and expense in a letter."

"We've all heard the time-worn apologies for failure to write. How often do we really have a good excuse? Generally the disinclination to write a letter rises from our lack of realization of how much letters mean to others."

"A letter is your best emissary.
It is a created thing. You select its contents—news, which by its very nature, is exclusive. With a pleasant disregard of literary laws you can make your letter a powerful bond."

"Whatever your motive for writing—to send news, to express thanks, console the grief-stricken, find a job, give advice—your letter is the correct way.
It is the most personal medium of communication."

"There is never any need to keep anyone waiting for your letters. In these days of fast transportation they are whisked across town or continent with incredible speed and accuracy.
Many thousands of people working around the clock are charged with the responsibility of guarding, dispatching and delivering your letters—all this for the cost of a few pennies."

"During the war the Post Office Department and the Armed Services united to speed the mail to men and women in camps, on ships and on the battlefronts and to bring back the great volume of messages written by those away from home. These letters were the means of encouragement, of maintaining home ties, expressing love and bridging over the long bitter years of separation."

"With the war receding into history, people remain about the same. They still want—and need —LETTERS."

Proposition 3 will relieve the teacher famine in California by guaranteeing public school teachers a minimum salary of $2400 funds are available for this purpose.

Two hundred California organizations, including the following, urge you to vote "YES" on 3—Republican and Democratic

And remember—when you vote "Yes" on 3, be sure to vote

FIRE THREATENS YOU

As part of its intensified fire prevention efforts in 1946—an intensification made necessary by the fact that fire loss is now at record levels—the National Board of Fire Underwriters is distributing an enormous number of pamphlets and posters pointing to the menace of fire, and showing ways in which fire can be prevented.

These publications go to fire insurance agents, adjusters, fire chiefs, fire prevention organizations, parent-teachers clubs and similar groups and are displayed and redistributed through them. Every American, unless he is a hermit in the hills, will have a chance to read them. And every American, if he is to do his part, to control a destroyer which takes 10,000 lives a year, should give them his strict attention.

This year, Fire Prevention Week, is to be observed from October 6 to 12. During that week, everything humanly possible will be done to dramatize the vital cause of fire prevention. But a week of such work isn't enough—it's only a starting point. The experts can show you the dangers and the means of ridding your home and business of them. Then it's up to you. Make every week fire prevention week so far as your property is concerned.

AND STILL THEY COME

California has been on the receiving end of the greatest movement of people in world history—a movement which dwarfs the crusades, and makes the gold rush seem like a Boy Scout outing.

So declared Robert de Roos, staff writer of the San Francisco Chronicle, after a lengthy tour of the Pacific Coast. According to figures quoted by him, California now has a new population of 9,225,000 and has gained 2,320,000 during the war years—and there is no sign of a let-up.

The popularity of our State has been most gratifying to our pride but most trying on our nerves. Attempting to provide living quarters for the millions of newcomers has been, and still is, a tough job. This matter, however, does not concern newcomers alone for there are a good many thousands of lifelong Californians also looking for a place to call home.

But the housing troubles are not the only ones. The problem of accommodating the other needs of our greatly swollen population is not any easier. Stores, shops, banks, restaurants—virtually every type of business directly servicing the public—are finding that they simply haven't enough space to properly take care of the surging mass of customers.

Thousands of business houses have plans already prepared to expand their facilities as soon as they can obtain building materials. Right now most building supplies are being channeled into home construction, but it is hoped that this situation will ease before long so that the constantly intensifying needs for commercial and industrial building can be met. In the meantime, however, customers should realize that business concerns are operating under severe space limitations and should make allowances for the delays they often experience in getting waited on.

Even if the population did not increase at all during the next two or three years it would probably take that long, or longer, for California to catch up with itself. But the Westward tide isn't even slowing down. So, it looks like we have a building job that will last for years and years.

COLLEGE "INVASION"

California's higher education program will have to be handled on a "mass production" basis this year and probably for several years to come. The thousands of former service men who want to finish their schooling under the provisions of the G. I. Bill are boosting college enrollments far beyond anything ever seen before. The 22,500 students who registered at the University of California for the fall term doubled the enrollment figure of last year. The line up of students waiting to register extended for nine blocks. The U. C. "invasion" is being duplicated up and down the State, and virtually everywhere in the country although on a slightly less colossal scale. The boys who hardly more than a year ago were fighting the Japs and the Germans will now be waging the battle of the books. Their new occupation is much less hazardous, but most of them are no less serious about it. This was one of the things they were fighting for.

UPWARD, EVER UPWARD

There are reports that labor leaders are planning on a drive for widespread additional wage increases. The reports say further that many senators and representatives, who must run for reelection in November, will back them.

Here is the one sure road to ruinous inflation, and the destruction of the dollar. When will labor learn that wage increases without any comparable increase in worker productivity will simply result in more price increases—and a decline in "take home" pay? When will our lawmakers realize that the playing of politics at the expense of the very financial structure of the country will bring distress and ruin to us all?

THE "FORTY-SIXERS"

However genuine, or otherwise, the gold strike near Crescent City turns to be, it has demonstrated that there are plenty of "Forty-Sixers" today to respond to the magic cry of "Gold!" just as there were "Forty-Niners" to answer the call nearly a century ago. The present day prospectors aren't faced with the enormous hazards which made the search for gold so dangerous in California's early history. But there is little reason to doubt that they would willingly face the same hazards if it were necessary in order to locate the yellow metal. The hope of striking it rich and the fascination of searching for gold is as strong in the breast of the prospector of today as it was in the "Forty-Niners". Times change but men don't.

Ask the Professor

By H. F. Noake

Dear Prof.: One by one our bulbs are burning out. Can't locate the sizes we need any where. Tell us where we might get a supply.

Ans.: Contact your nearest nursery, you'll find all sizes.

Dear Prof.: We like prunes but there doesn't seem to be many ways to serve them. Got any new recipes up your sleeve?

Ans.: No new wrinkles that I've heard of.

Dear Prof.: Our son's report card shows him very poor in arithmetic. Just hates it. What can we do to help?

Ans.: Don't worry. He'll take an interest in figures all too soon.

"JACK SPRAT COULD EAT NO FAT I"

AROUND AND ABOUT

By EDWARD LLOYD VOORHEES

SCOTLAND—Pang is part of "Auld Reekie's" tang.

The contrasts in living conditions—and consequently in human beings—in Edinburgh are startling to the person coming upon them, as I did, for the first time. Noted the world over for its distinguished University, its medical schools, its National Gallery, the industry, deeply religious nature and high culture of its people, the capital of Scotland yet permitted, when I visited it, the existence of the worst looking slum district I had seen anywhere—or would see until I came later to Glasgow! And this district exists, of all places, in the Royal Mile, especially around Canongate, the lower part of the High Street, which was in former times the residence section of the Court and aristocracy—"the glass of fashion and the mould of form." Here the ancient strongly built stone houses, the proud palaces of two and three centuries ago, now leer at the passerby like damp, ghastly, living, sepulchers, their surfaces marred, and grimly, with smelly alleys leading to open spaces at the rear called "closes", which were perhaps formerly small gardens, courtyards, or carriage arways.

These closes and the alleys leading to them from the street, although in some instances originally paved, were now mired or smeared with a mixture of mud and ashes and garbage, where skinny, undernourished children whined and fought like wild animals—or sat quietly looking on—their pale, grimy bodies somewhat less than half-covered by faded and threadbare remnants of filthy clothing evidently in the last phase of "hand-me-downs". To round out this apparently endless cycle of human misery among the large number of adults who were sunning themselves on the stoops and in the doorways of this district I saw many with shrunk, or maimed bodies, and some with faces disfigured and even partially eaten away by disease which, ironically, are peculiar to human beings. To flavor this consistent picture of mass filth, misery, and human depravity, as I walked, I saw a group composed of an old woman talking to a younger one accompanied by a girl in her teens. I heard fragments of a loud-toned conversation whose billingsgate brand of indecency would have gained envious attention. I am sure, in "Old Bailey" prison in its palmiest days, why such feasting spots and their human victims still exist in a kingdom whose "industrial prosperity" led the world for two hundred years is a question I leave for elder statesmen. Will the recent splitting of the atom solve this, too—and if so, How and When?

However, like many another of my fellow men, faced by some of the unpleasant realities of the Present, I again found at least temporary escape into the remote and "romantic" past. At the end of this Royal Mile lies Holyrood Palace, and entering its castellated gray walls I explored, with other wrapt witnesses, its storied great hall and intimate royal apartments of the past and present—for a suite of well-appointed and regal apartments is kept ready always for the state visits of the King and Queen of the United Kingdom. This is as it should be and the Scots are doubtless not remiss in doing the traditional and proper thing with a dignity which non-monarchical countries could well emulate without affront to the essentials of democracy; for do not most intelligent people, whatever their form of government, concede that whoever symbolizes the State, be it King or President or Pasha, should be housed and entertained with a dignity, comfort, and richness commensurate with his country's wealth? And so it is in Holyrood Palace.

The apartments used by Mary Queen of Scots and her dissolute, turbulent, jealous and plotting husband seem to have preserved remarkably well the furnishings and atmosphere of their time. It was in these rooms that the beautiful, brilliant, and strong-passioned young Queen, bent upon restoring Catholicism as the state religion of Scotland and, eventually, of England, lived and counter-plotted against Elizabeth of England, through her few days of high happiness and her many days of suspense, wretchedness, and terror. What impressed me first in Mary Stuart's apartments was the physical smallness of these rooms where schemes were hatched which involved in their network the fate not only of Scotland, but of England, France, Spain, and the Low Countries. Except for the intelligence and foresight of Queen Elizabeth, superior to that of her advisers, those schemes of Mary Stuart's quite conceivably would have reversed the histories of England and Spain. The Queen's small private supper room, no larger than the "dinettes" in many a humble California bungalow, seems to have been her chosen place for conversing with her intimate friends. And it was here that she was resting and talking with her favorite counselor, Foreign Secretary, and friend, the Italian, David Rizzio—and listening, I heard says, as he sang and played the lute—on that March evening when her jealous boy-husband broke into the room with his kinsmen, the Douglases, who seized and dragged her terrified companion to the door by which they had entered, a few feet away, and on the landing of the private stairway leading down to Darnley's bedroom they stabbed Rizzio to death. Mary never forgot those death cries, nor for, gave her husband, whom she already hated for sufficient reason. It had been Rizzio who advised her marriage to her Catholic cousin, in order to unite the Catholic factions of Scotland and England by providing a Catholic heir that would in turn unite the thrones of the two countries. For Queen Elizabeth dared not marry, either Catholic or Protestant, as both she and Mary were astute enough to realize, lest the balance of power between the two factions of nobles be broken, her own power weakened, and England plunged into civil war. Thus we see another instance of how rival religions once masked personal political ambitions in much the same manner as rival "ideologies" do now—"other times, other fashions". Are rival "sciences" about to take over the "next turn"? And which will it be that conquers—the science that can show mankind the better way of life, or will it be the science of ballistics? For the comfort of optimists, it may be observed that so far mankind has survived all the destructive forces of history, even man's most diabolical inventions for inflicting pain and death—though the cost in individual suffering and premature death has been appalling. Nature is concerned only with the preservation of the species, but science should be concerned with the preservation of the individual.

DIPLOMATIC MANNING . . . Capt. Harry Manning, who argued a Nazi U-boat commander not to sink the SS Washington, carrying 1,000 passengers in 1940, has just been appointed commander of the largest United States owned passenger liner, SS America. He flew with Amelia Earhart.

VOWED TO KILL FIFTY . . . Stanislaw (the Sniper) Ballon, Polish outlaw, shown after capture by American troops. Ballon vowed to kill 50 Nazi followers in vengeance for killing of his parents and three brothers in Poland by the Nazis.

FOR Veterans' WelfareVote "YES"
on Proposition 2!

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans urge you to vote "YES" on Proposition 2 on the November ballot.

This measure will legalize greyhound racing in California—under strict state supervision—and turn over 4 per cent of all track wagers to a Veterans' Fund administered by the State Department of Veterans Affairs.

It will perform a distinct service for California veterans. It will guarantee adequate financing of state-sponsored welfare and rehabilitation activities, including support of the Veterans' Home at Yountville. It will relieve the taxpayer of the burden of paying for these services; greyhound racing will pay the bill instead.

California veterans ask you to support them in this campaign.

Let's carry through - Vote 'YES' on 2

A COMMUNITY HOSPITAL?

I wonder if you ever thought about having a community hospital in your city? It seems to me that every city should have its own local hospital operated by the county on a plan similar to the school system. As to the advantages, they are numerous. In the event of sickness, we could be near our families and friends. The problems of crowded conditions now prevalent would be solved because each unit would be designed according to the population of the community. There would be a personal touch, too, lacking in the larger institutions, inasmuch as the local hospital would be operated for the townspeople. Finally, in emergency cases, patients would receive quicker attention. All in all, I'm in favor of local hospitals. What do you think?

By the way, have you been to the California Furniture Store lately?

Adequate Lighting Henceforth for all Eating Places

"Let there be light"—enough. This is the slogan of the bureau of sanitation of the Los Angeles county health department following the passage of an amended ordinance by the board of supervisors requiring adequate lighting facilities for restaurants and cafes.

According to the ordinance, every public eating place where food is prepared shall be adequately lighted, the term defined as having a minimum light intensity of ten foot-candles. In addition to this minimum lighting in all rooms where food or drinks are prepared, including the dishwashing section, there shall be a minimum of three foot-candles in all parts of the rooms where food is served.

In commenting on the new regulations, H. A. Young, director of the bureau of sanitation, said that many cocktail rooms and cafes are so dark that it is impossible for sanitarians to make adequate examinations, to say nothing of customers being able to see what they are eating. "These places may not be as aesthetic as some would like, but at least the lipstick on glasses and insanitary dishwashing procedures can be detected," he said.

Preliminary surveys will be made when operators of public eating places will be advised as to requirements necessary to conform to the new ordinance.

WAR BRIDES IN PEACE BONNETS . . . Three of the British war brides who arrived in a contingent aboard the "Henry Gibbons" show varying taste in hats. Left to right are Mrs. William Williams, Sharon, Miss. Mrs. Everett Cline, Waverly, W. Va., and Mrs. Russell Helton, St. Louis. Their bonnets have but one thing in common—all are smart, but war brides are anxious to don American-made clothes as soon as they arrive while their American sisters adopt their former styles.

BROTHERS BY BIRTH AND BLACKSTONE . . . Associate Justice Frank Murphy of the Supreme court of the United States is shown, right, with Judge George Murphy in recorders court at Detroit. They are sitting in the same court room where Justice Frank presided a few years ago, before he went on to the nation's highest tribunal. The brothers were photographed as they discussed a case now before Judge George, while Justice Frank was on vacation.

IMMUNIZATION AVAILABLE FOR CHILDREN AT SCHOOL IN SMALLPOX AND DIPHTHERIA

Recommendations of the Los Angeles county health department regarding smallpox and diphtheria immunization were given this week by Dr. J. M. Furstman, local school doctor with immunization arranged for October 21st for diphtheria and the first diphtheria inoculations and Supt. Chas. Skutt will give a more complete detail of the health program in the near future.

Health officials suggest that first diphtheria inoculations and smallpox vaccinations be given when children are six to twelve months old. Diphtheria botser "closes" should be repeated when they start to school and again at the age of ten. Smallpox vaccinations need to be repeated about every five years regardless of age in order to maintain a high level of protection.

Pre-school children who did not receive this protection as babies should have the first diphtheria and smallpox protection now when they are given at the neighborhood schools.

If children in school now have never had either of these inoculations, parents should sign the consent slips which are sent home for this service. When children are near ten years of age they bined diphtheria and whooping and another vaccination.

Babies and children below the school age may be immunized at the local school with the school children when accompanied by parents or guardians. The combined diphtheria and whooping cough injections are offered to all children below school age as long as the vaccine is available.

Since two injections for diphtheria are recommended for children who have had no previous protection, mothers may bring pre-school children to the Monrovia health center a month later for the second injection. For school children without previous diphtheria immunization, the second should be given without fail in the next school year.

As schools do not keep records of children's immunizations, all parents are sent consent slips with the request that they be signed and returned if this service is needed. "The schedule outlined is effective and further immunizations are needless," Dr. Furstman said. "However, if parents do not know whether their children have been properly immunized against these diseases, we urge that it be done now by the family physician or through the service at the local schools."

The National Federation of Small Business, Inc., of which a number of our local business firms are members, has recently completed a nationwide poll among its membership to indicate their attitude regarding OPA. 92 percent of the membership were opposed to the OPA as now operating.

C. W. Harder, President of the Federation, states that small business as a whole has never opposed Governmental actions which has been of decided benefit to their community welfare. Furthermore, during the war period no group cooperated more closely with Government than did small business, nor did any group suffer to any greater extent from regulations placed upon them. He also says that no organized action was taken in opposition to OPA until it was found to jeopardize community welfare to a very great extent.

BALLING BABY TALK

BY MAXINE BALLING

HIS EYES POP OUT OF HIS HEAD! One of the most original toy ideas we've seen in a long time here at the Balling Baby Shop is a clown's head with a huge open mouth. There are two bean bags to throw at him. When you hit the big tongue in his mouth, his eyes a tually pop right out of his face, and the kids giggle and scream. It's $3.50, but what we hope to get over is that we're getting in the cleverest toys right along, and when you go Christmas shopping for youngsters, be sure to stop in at the BBS. (When we were kids, Mom made us bean bags out of old socks and we threw them at the lamp shade and the cut glass on the sideboard.)

MOST BEAUTIFUL THINGS I believe we've ever had are the crocheted work of Mrs. Alta Clemmons who lives right here in Monrovia. (Everybody in Monrovia knows her. She managed the high school cafeteria for years. She has such a wonderful personality that it's a pleasure to talk with her). She crochets bib and bootie sets, aquies, bedroom slippers to go over the sleeper feet, and anything you want to order. She makes quaint little triangle shape shawls that tie under the arms with ribbons. They don't bunch under the arms like sweaters, and they make a little girl look as cute as a doll. Mrs. Clemmons works remarkably fast as well as beautifully, which is a hint that there is plenty of time to have lovely things made for Christmas gifts that are really NICE.

"A GRADUATE," in addition to meaning someone who has received a diploma, also means a very important utensil for measuring baby's formula. These "graduates" have been very scarce for years, but we've received our first shipment, nice white enamel Voll-rath ware, with a measure that shows ounces up to 32 and CC or grams up to 1000. They're $1.25. (If you want any dope on formulas etc., we have a wonderful baby book that tells just everything to do, before and after baby arrives. Formulas, schedules, menus, recipes, first aid. It's $2.95).

In other words, there are just lots and lots of practical, cute and interesting things to see at the Balling Baby Shop, 401½ Myrtle, Monrovia.

Veteran Loan Fund Shrinks Prop. 1 Asked

Lawrence C. Stevens, State Director of Veterans Affairs, today announced that the California Veterans Loan Fund, which was established by the state legislature in 1941, has been reduced to $100,000. Stevens said that the fund was originally established with a total of $1,000,000, but that it has been reduced to $100,000 because of the state's financial difficulties. He said that the fund is now in a critical condition and that it is necessary to take immediate action to prevent its complete depletion. "Failure of the bond issue appears to be extremely unlikely," the director commented. "Proposition No. 1 has been widely endorsed by public and private groups throughout the state, and there is no organized opposition. Except for the amount, it is identical with five other bond issues approved by the people during the past 25 years."

The farm and home purchase plan, inaugurated in 1921 for the veterans of World War I, is operated without cost to the taxpayers. Funds for retirement of the bonds and payment of all administrative costs are obtained from repayment of veterans' contracts.

No Injuries In Car-Bike Collision

Serious injuries were narrowly averted in an automobile-bicycle collision Friday afternoon at the intersection of Mt. Trail and East Grand View Aves. Richard C. Lambert of Bella Vista Terrace was driving a Chrysler coupe south on Mt. Trail Ave., at about 3:30 p. m., when a bicycle ridden by David Lovejoy, age 14, of 74 West Grandview, came through the intersection from the west without stopping at the stop sign.

Fortunately, Lambert saw the bicycle in time to swerve his car to the left and stop, before the boy's bicycle struck the car's right fender, denting it slightly. The boy was thrown from the bicycle but said that he was not injured.

The youth said that his bicycle handle bars were loose and that he lost control when he reached the intersection.

Police Officer James C. Heasley, who investigated the accident, reported that the motorist's tire skid marks showed that he made every effort to avoid the collision, swerving from the right side of Mt. Trail Ave. to the opposite corner of the intersection.

The driver of the car was Mrs. Howard Burns of 1784 South Santa Anita Ave., who was not held. The police report on the accident showed that the view of both the child and the auto driver was obscured by shrubbery which screened either side of the private driveway out of which the child drove onto the street.

Varied Loads

points on the Wilson Trail. Drinking water was also supplied the camps from canvas bags carried by the pack animals.

Bath tubs and pianos were hauled, and in one case, a steel ball one machine was dismantled and hauled by mule back to a gold mine near Mt. Baldy.

Such heavier loads were carried by larger mules, except for pianos which were carted up the trail on a two wheeled dolly pulled by a mule.

City Water Superintendent Joe Swanson recalls that the chief bath tub carrier was a big 1200 pound mule named "Ben", whose rare combination of strength and gentleness made him invaluable for carrying heavy loads. Swanson was associated with the Mt. Wilson stables, which at the height of pack train business operated 150 head of horses, mules and burros.

Many of the pack animals were rented to weekend hikers who packed their camping equipment on burro-back. Joe Swanson recalls.

Another Sierra Madiran who entered in the packing business during its boom is J. P. Moffat of the E. K. Wood Lumber Co. He was associated with the late William Corum who operated about 80 head of pack animals.

Other pack train operators included the Orchard Camp stables owned by Jack Baird, also Boyd and Sons and C. E. Chantry.

Wilburn Sturtevant pioneered the local pack train business when he started a regular service to his camp in 1894 with 40 animals.

Sierra Madre merchants furnished the bulk of all supplies transported into the mountains from this side. Most of the pack trains started their trek into the mountains from the Mt. Wilson Stables at the foot of Wilson Trail on East Mira Monte. Others started at the end of the Pacific Electric Line on Mt. T-All Ave.

Week-end traffic became so heavy on the Wilson trail in the 1920's that the Forest Service was compelled to issue special traffic regulations to govern the pack trains. These included:

1. Pack trains shall have the right-of-way over all horsemen and pedestrians.

2. Every pack train shall have a bell attached to at least one animal.

3. No pack train in charge of a person under 18 years of age shall use the trail.

4. Each southbound train shall be accompanied by two men, one preceding the train at 500 feet distance to warn all persons of its approach, and the other man following closely to see that the animals are together. Northbound pack trains will be similarly regulated.

Capt. Dailey Visits Parents While on West Coast Trip

He left last night for San Francisco and will return to Wright Field soon.
